

Water Hygiene: ACoPL8 HSG274

Understanding the Implications of the Recent revision An Expert Seminar

Overview

Since the launch of the new L8 ACOP and HSG274 much has been written and discussed about what this means for organisations — now is the chance to understand from a group of true industry experts what it really means for YOU. An interactive seminar with 3 of the leading practitioners who will outline the changes in the legislation, how it is affecting enforcement regimes and the legal consequences of non-compliance.

As an industry leader in this sector for over 25 years Green Compliance, with our legal partner TLT, has been able to assemble a panel with unrivalled expertise to ensure you and your organisation appreciate the implications of this new guidance for you.

Who should attend

The seminar will provide the knowledge to aid anyone involved with management or duty holder responsibilities across water hygiene and legionella control whether in a public sector, facilities management or commercial organisation. Designed to deliver expert advice it will suit both experienced managers as well as those who are new to the subject area.

Meet our experts — the panel of key speakers comprising:

Industry Expert: Mike Hunter, Chair WMS, LCA Council
Enforcement Expert: John Newbold, Independent Consultant
Legal Expert: Duncan Reed, Associate, TLT
